

CavView II - the new visualization software

Now available is CavView II, the new version of the visualization program for cavity surveying. CavView II replaces the previous CavView program, which was part of the CavInfo Software Suite.

CavView II provides a range of extra options for presenting and visualizing cavern survey results. Besides the inclusion of extended program functions it is now possible to produce displays in "survey report outfit" – an option that up to now was available only to a limited extent.

CavView II is available to our customers in the Standard as well as in the Professional version. There is also a SOCON internal version, which is used in our offices for interpretation and reporting.

If you would like to obtain this latest version of CavView II, register in the Customer Software Port in the Download Area of our website at www.socon.com. You will then be given an access code that authorizes you to download the software.

The first download of the standard version is free of charge.

Of course, if you would prefer the software on CD, we will be pleased to send you a copy. Contact us if you have any queries.
